

Yes, I would like to support the work of the Financial Planner Education Diversity Empowerment Corporation (FPEDEC) to advance diversity and inclusion in the financial services industry. Often there is a lack of awareness among minorities about the opportunities in the financial planning field. Based on self-reported data provided to the CFP Board, less than 3.5 percent of all 81,000 CFP certified professionals in the nation are black or Latino. According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics blacks and Latinos make up nearly 30 percent of the overall workforce.

Your tax-deductible donation to the Financial Planner Education Diversity Empowerment Corporation (FPEDEC) supports our work to build the financial planning profession's capacity and body of knowledge.
